1. Visa

How to apply for visa to China?
◆ You may apply for X1/X2 Visa at the Chinese Consulate/Embassy in your home country. Kindly bring along your valid passport, the original copy of Admission Notice from BNU and Visa Application for Study in China (JW202/101) form.
◆ Please consult the embassy to check if the “Physical Examination Record for Foreigner” is necessary for your visa application.
◆ Do make sure that the original copies of the Admission Notice and JW 202/201 form are handed back to you after obtaining your Chinese visa. These documents are mandatory for application of visa extension upon your arrival in Beijing.

Type of visa to apply for:
Please apply for X1/X2 student visa before coming to China. According to Chinese immigration laws, students with visa-free access cannot get any other valid visa within mainland China.

Important visa notice:
◆ Please arrive in China before February 16th 2016, to avoid any visa expiration issues.
◆ According to Chinese law and regulations, students with X1 Visa are required to apply for Residence Permit within 30 days of their arrival to China. You will be fined heavily if you fail to do so.
◆ You are required to register at the International Students Office first before applying for Residence Permit.
◆ If you arrive before the registration date and face any issues with your visa, please contact ISO immediately.
◆ For more information about visa application, please visit http://www.bjgaj.gov.cn (click on ‘服务频道’— ‘服务大厅’— ‘外国人’) to check.
2. Accommodation

On campus housing

There are a total of 6 international student dorms in BNU. For students who want to live on campus, please apply for accommodation online after you’ve received the Admission Notice.

For more information about accommodation, please visit http://iso.bnu.edu.cn

Deadline for dorm reservation

Once you’ve received the admission notice, please log in to http://apply.bnu.edu.cn to apply. Application date: 9:00AM December 1st 2015 to 12AM February 5th 2016.

Due to the limited rooms available, please make your reservations quickly. Application will close after the deadline.

Note: Chinese Government (CSC) and Confucius (excluding Confucius Study Plan) scholarship recipients, as well as exchange students who have their accommodation fee waived, are not required to reserve online. Your housing arrangements will be settled by the school.

How to apply?

Option 1: After confirming your application status online, log in to the application website http://apply.bnu.edu.cn and apply

Option 2: After receiving your Admission Notice, log in the following website http://apply.bnu.edu.cn/booking/reservingroom/login.do to apply

Username: Student ID
Password: students’ birthday (8 digits)

Living off campus

You can choose to live off campus. For more information about renting rooms or apartments in Beijing, please consult local rental agents. You are advised to read the contract carefully before signing, in case of scam.

You can only check in to on campus dorms 7 days before registration, if you are in Beijing earlier than that, we advise you to book the hotel near school in advance.
3. Physical Examination

Is physical examination necessary?

It is not required for students who are studying in China for just one. Students who are studying in China for one academic year or more must do the physical examination and obtain medical certificate. Those who already have a residence permit need not to go through the medical checkup again. However if the student obtained the residence permit before the age of 18, then he/she has to undergo medical checkup again.

Requirement of Foreigner Physical Examination Form

◆ Original copy
◆ Valid for 6 months
◆ Official stamp stamped on top of the passport photo
◆ Signed and stamped by issuing doctor (last page)
◆ If you have to photocopy the blank form, please do it double sided and NOT two pages
◆ Original copy of AIDS, Syphilis, EGC and X-Ray test reports
4. Money Matters

Do I need cash?

Please change some RMB before coming to Beijing or bring 1/2 international credit card that is able to work in China. You are advised to have at least 5000 RMB (for visa, physical examination, living expenses, accommodation, food and transport). Please be extra careful carrying around cash.

Paying tuition fees

Tuition fees can only be paid in RMB using debit card with Union Pay logo issued in China. If you are carrying foreign currencies, please change to RMB once you reach China, open a bank account and apply a debit card immediately before paying tuition fees.
5. Insurance

Can I Purchase Insurance in my home country?
You may purchase insurance in your home country. However insurance purchased outside of China would be to be verified during registration. So please be reminded to bring the original copy of your insurance certificate and all other associated documents. Alternatively, you can purchase insurance for international students provided by Ping An Insurance Company online (Website: http://www.lhgj.net/insurance/wszf/WSZF_ENTER.jsp) or during registration.

Insurance Requirements
According to regulations by the Ministry of Education, international students studying in China are required to possess and insurance of a highest individual property insurance of RMB 400,000 worth (or other currencies equal to this amount) individual maximum amount of compensation for overseas medical care and accidental injury.
